Who Are We?

Our name and status are new, but National-Louis University stands for a century of tradition and innovation as National College of Education.

Our colors are platinum and blue. Platinum was chosen because it symbolizes the richness of our future as an innovative leader in higher education. Blue was selected as a tribute to our proud heritage and founding purpose as an outstanding teacher training institute.

We Are Field

What does it mean to be a "Field" person? A lot of people wonder. Field students are those who are completing their undergraduate and graduate educational dreams by being able to take classes at convenient times without disrupting their day-time schedule.

Who are Field students? They are teachers, mothers, "empty nesters", managers, fathers, housewives — you name it! In fact, they are the majority of the student body at NLU. They attend classes at sites all over the country and in Germany. The average age is 32. They are pioneers in a new trend that is expected to continue in higher education into the next century.

A Message From the President

The President

Dear NLU Students:

This academic year, the first as National-Louis University, is now complete. All of the study, exams, achievements, relationships, special activities, and good times are now history. All over . . . and yet in another sense just ready to begin. This is true because what we have experienced at National-Louis University this year has become much more a part of us than we may realize.

We are different than we were when we began this year. And, our "new selves" are about to be thrust into contact with another group of individuals who will influence our lives whether we are graduating seniors or students going home for the summer or preparing to enter another term.

John Donne once wrote: "Any man's death diminishes me because I am involved in mankind. And, therefore never send to know for whom the bell tolls. It tolls for thee."

As a community of learners we understand the meaning of this statement because we have become involved in each others lives. And, as you leave NLU this year, not to return, or just for a short period of time, you will take a part of us with you. At the same time, however, you will leave a part of yourself with those of us who remain. It is in this real sense that you shall never be the same as you were when you entered National.

It is my hope, as President, that I have been able to play a significant role in creating the positive climate at NLU for you to learn, to grow and in a very wonderful sense, for you to be a different person than you were when you first enrolled. And, that, as a consequence, we here at National-Louis University have made it possible for you to become exceptionally qualified to pursue a new opportunity . . . in a new place . . . as a "new" person . . . enriched by the interaction we have had with each others lives!

Best wishes to each one of you and my personal thanks for the special contribution you have made to the enrichment of the National-Louis University community.

Sincerely,

Orley R. Herron
President

These are the people on our Evanston NLU Campus! The Admissions staff is to the left. Recognize them? They may have recruited you to NLU. To the right, Olif (Oli), you can see him sweeping around the school keeping it clean. Below, that's Tracy. She helps you out in the Media Center . . . need a VCR? At the bottom on the left, you know who they are. You can't take your classes without seeing the Registrar. Hey Financial Aid what are you doing? Gambling the money away? We figured as much!

Year '91 Review

The biggest event of the year was the Gulf War. President Bush sent American Troops over to Saudi Arabia in August 1990 to give Saddam Hussein a message to remove Iraqi troops from Kuwait. This was a message Mr. Hussein did not heed. The U.N. went to War with Iraq in January of 1991. The Iraqis lost the war one month and a half later. NLU had students and staff fighting in the war as well as friends and family members of NLU students, staff and faculty. This is our tribute to service people who fought and risked their lives for others freedom.

Field Programs

The 12th Annual Field Dinner and Reception was held on Friday, May 3, 1991, in the Atrium on the Evanston Campus. Students, staff, and faculty of the Allied Health, Applied Behavioral Sciences, Management and Master of Education Field Programs attended.

The evening began with a 6:30 p.m. check-in, followed by a delicious buffet dinner. Guests were free to browse the NLU information table, visit the bookstore, order class rings or purchase the 1990 yearbooks.

At 8 p.m., the Weinstein Auditorium featured the evening's program. The speakers were Dr. Orley Herron, NLU's President; Carolyn Bair, Vice Provost of Student Affairs; Randy Bennett, Director of Student Affairs, Field Programs; and Jeff Blake, Alumni Keynote Speaker.

Immediately following the program, a reception was held in the Atrium where a sweet table buffet was hosted. Dancing until 12 a.m. rounded out this great event.

Angel In The Night

A lot of hard, earnest work has gone into the production of "Angel In The Night." Auditions were held in the Fall quarter and once the cast was chosen, the work immediately began. The cast members have trained long and hard for the production. All members had to take a class in the fall quarter in order to study the play. In the winter quarter rehearsals truly began. The cast could be seen in the theatre almost every night of the week. The next step was to build the set. Crew members stayed up all hours of the night over their spring break in order to finish the set on time. The effort made on part of the director, designers, cast, and crew has been well worth it! The production has been an enormous success!

The Volleyball team finished with a 19-19 overall record. The Eagles' 4-4 record in Chicagoland Collegiate Athletic Conference play was good for fourth place.

Senior Cindy Swartzloff and Junior Katy Hull were elected to the CCAC All-Conference Team. Hull was also chosen for the NAIA District 20 Team and was named Newcomer of the year.

Activities

Introducing: The Chicago Campus

National's Chicago Campus, 18 S. Michigan Ave., continues to be a busy and diverse place.

Our soccer team, the Eagles, ranked in the top 20 college soccer teams in the nation.

Student Government, formerly Student Advisory Board, changed its name to signal its interest in campus issues, but continues the tradition of sponsoring campus activities.

Among some of the honors for Chicago Campus students included recognition in Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges for: Michele Ann Burnside; Alejandro Contreras; Kristen M. Kynell; Robert Labedzki and Monique Lucas.

Reflecting campus diversity: Maria Blasini; Keith Banks; Wilson Cisernos; and Japanese exchange student Asako Sato.

Here's Chicago! Diversity

Every year Level I Language Institute students visit the Here's Chicago! multimedia show with Instructor Ana King. The students, as well as the show, reflect the city's diversity.

Level I Language Institute students enjoy being tourists for the day at Here's Chicago! Instructor Ana King points out Chicago landmarks to students at the Here's Chicago! outing.

Orientation

Orientation on the Chicago Campus is a group effort. Sponsored by the Office of Student Affairs, orientation involves departments such as the Language Institute and the Center for Academic Development and student leaders. New students have the opportunity to ask questions, get information, meet people on campus, learn their way around and make friends.

Student Development Counselor Mary Lasalle shows new students Counseling Resource Network materials. Language Institute student Xiao P. Gzucan signs in for orientation.

Students enjoy tacos at the orientation luncheon.

Orientation: Familiarization with the adaptation to a situation and or environment.

Celebrating Thanksgiving with Friends

Every year the Chicago Campus Student Advisory Board sponsors a Thanksgiving dinner for the campus. This year, food was ordered for 500 people. Friends on campus gathered to enjoy the meal and give thanks. Leftovers were donated to Pacific Gardens Mission.

Carlos Ortega, Adriana Flores, Rachel Gonzales and Lulu Derat helped serve turkey and trimmings.

Jose Flores and English Instructor Mary Jane Kearney seem pleased with the menu.

Folksinger Chris Farrell provided musical entertainment at the dinner.

SAB representative Danita Burns assists with signing in students.

Accounting Club Shows its Diversity

The 27 member Accounting Club featured speakers on business-related topics such as "Current Developments in the Banking World" at its monthly meetings and participated in special activities and programs, including and Internal Revenue Service Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program.

Free Street Theater Too, a company of older Americans, performed "Reflections," an original play about events that shaped their lives. Comedians from Second City did improv comedy bits with students on campus.

Chicago Campus Hosts Career Fair

The Chicago Campus hosted the University's 5th Annual Career Fair. The Fair involved more than 60 companies covering all programs at NLU and was attended by more than 300 students. Associate Director and Career Fair Coordinator Cathy Robinson attributes the success of the Fair to the conscientious effort of our students. "The energy of the Fair motivates students," says Cathy.

Education major Socorro Casas works with a recruiter from a school district.

Pedro Omez, Associate Director, Evanston, assists students at the Fair.

A Celebration of a People

This year's Chicago Campus African-American History Celebration was organized by a student and staff committee. The evening program included speakers, storytellers, music and traditional food.

Students Nicole Mallette and Cynthia Roberts emceed the program.

Cynthia Roberts, dressed in traditional African garb, read Gwendolyn Brooks' "And Still I Rise."

The Ed House Quartet performed cool jazz.

Gwen Neal sang Stevie Wonder's "Happy Birthday" for the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. celebration. Chicago performance artist and poet Munthreu Shah (background) later read from "Revolutionary Dream," an original work.

Rachel Gonzalez from Student Government emceed the Dr. King program.

Zeta Phi Beta Sorority

Zeta Phi Beta's purpose is to foster "the ideals of service, charity, scholarship, civic and cultural endeavors, sisterhood, and Finer Womanhood." The members and auxiliary groups did volunteer work in community outreach programs and organized charities and promoted legislation for social and civic change.

Education Club's Rose and Candle Ceremony

The Rose and Candle Ceremony is an annual event at National-Louis University although this was the first year on the Chicago Campus. During the ceremony a senior gives an underclass student a candle which symbolizes the lamp of learning and the message to carry on the traditions at National. In return, the underclass student gives the senior a rose to symbolize she has blossomed and grown through her journey at NLU.

Orientation week at National — Louis is always fun! Sure, the new students are nervous as they naturally would be . . . but quickly they meet their Student Ambassador, and they find those worries soon disappear. During the week, the students attended a dinner, short seminars on just about everything at NLU, a Murder Mystery, a Second City Comedy Night with the real cast (!), danced, played musical chairs, went on the Wendella Boat tour, had a picnic outside, and were shown the town! What a great way to start off their first year! Way to go Diana, Cindy, Tom, Barb, Carin, Jill, Claudia, Sonya, Chris, Cody, Becky, Michelle, Jennifer, Nancy, Erika, our 1990-91 Ambassadors!

This year the students at NLU, Evanston campus, had the honor of attending 3 Performing Arts programs for FREE! It was the first of its kind, and overall, it was a great success. The Student Senate helped fund each of the events in order to create an opportunity for the students to go and try something new on campus. A different crowd of students attended each of the events, which is what we were hoping for . . . something for everyone!

Students do ANYTHING for $!

A beady-eyed monster ripped through the door with a trail of money following him. A large crowd had gathered in the atrium to play Blizzard of Bucks on that Friday evening of September 28th. Everyone was reaching for the same goal: winning money. Little did they know that they would have to do crazy, off-the-wall stunts to win.

Delia Martin, Liza Peplow, Cedric Evans, and Jodi Reeser learned fast as they awaited the inevitable explosions of balloons popping in their faces, which they had to blow until that point.

That was not Cedric's only fall out. Look at him attacking that pie with his big mouth. Hey look, no Hands!

Dos amigos, Yinka Futega and Andy Andrews try to throw balls atop their sombreros. Too bad they did not do a Mexican hat dance also.

Here is Anita Warner in the grand finale! Look at her pounce on that dough. Meoww! She won over $200 from the games and money machine. By the way Anita, what is your last name again?

The chubby bunnies are sooo cute! With mouths full of marshmallows, Cedric and Liza watch as Delia is persuaded to say "chubby bunny." Hey Delia, it is not ice to spit at the host!

Stacking blocks seems difficult for Andy, Anita, and Cedric. Difficult, you may question? Oven mitts are the catch, or fall, of this game!

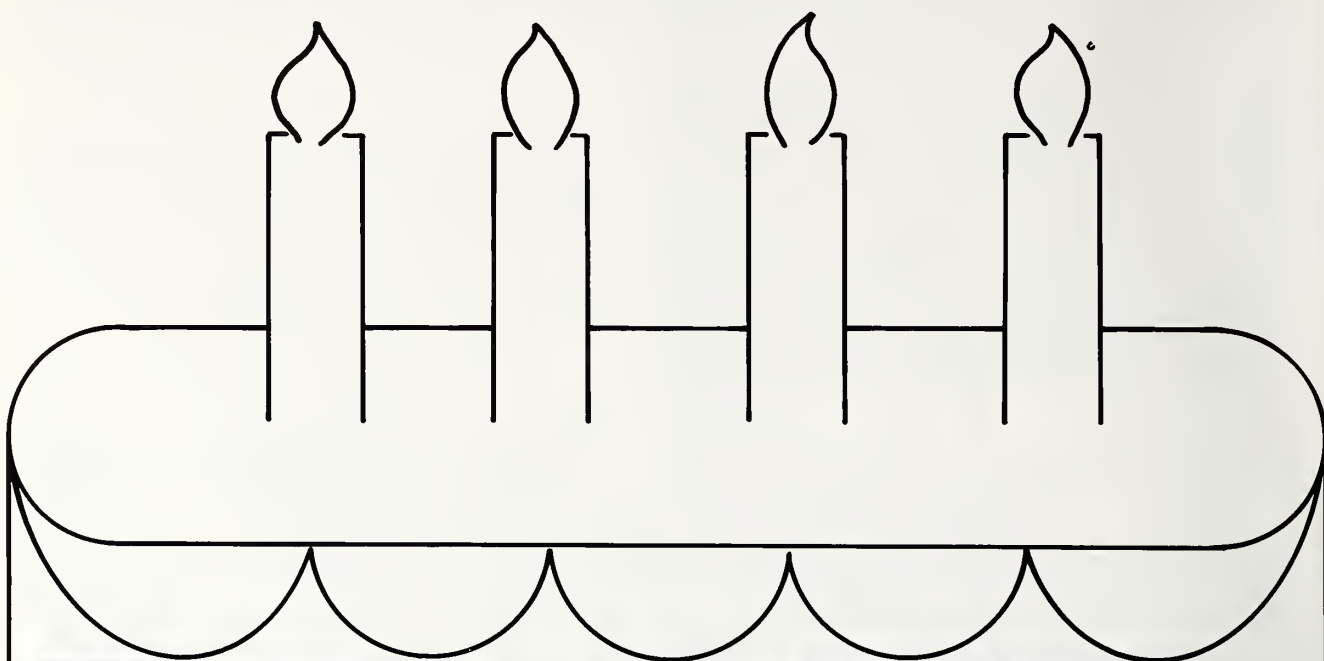

Anita counts every dollar making sure nothing gets past her, especially after her antics to get it.

Goo Goo Ga Ga Coochy Cool Watch these babies, Jen Marriot, Chris Ptack, Amy Gardner, and Anita drink their juice. Do not forget to burp!

Happy Birthday to You ... !

Folk Music Hits NLU!

National brought new talent to the Atrium this year. Students had a lot of fun as they listened and danced to a variety of folk songs. This activity simply adds to the expanded cultural diversity which is steadily growing at NLU.

Sara Longden taught students some traditional folk dances during their lunch hour and Chris Farrel came in to sing folk songs. Everybody enjoyed this new and experimental activity at NLU.

Many brought their friends and family to enjoy the event with them. Students were encouraged to participate as much as possible and as you can see, many did. Maybe now we'll use these pictures to promote the new dance department at NLU! Oh, wait, we don't have one. Sorry!

Alcohol Awareness Week

NLU's Evanston Campus celebrated Alcohol Awareness Week as designated by the National Collegiate Office. The week included speakers, displays, movies and a Senate debate as to whether we should serve alcohol on campus. Topics covered: Co-dependency; How to talk to your classroom about drugs; Advertising and alcohol; Driving while intoxicated; Women and alcohol; What happens when someone goes in for treatment. More than 100 students participated in the various programs that were offered.

Wow! What a month! The African-American History Club put together an incredible month of wonderful activities for the month of February. The events included speakers, a fashion show, a talent show, a student produced play, and a party to celebrate a "job well done by all". The month also included a fantastic musical called Project! by Free Street Theater.

Save Our Earth!

NLU's Good Earth Society sponsored a week of great activities from April 21-27th. They planted trees; read poems; planted bushes with the Demonstration School; had speaker Jack Darin from the Sierra Club; had speaker Dr. LaFollette, Environmentalist from Wisconsin and, speaker Professor Rockler. They topped off the week with an indoor picnic and a play on Saturday. Below: Scenes from the indoor picnic. Looks like fun, huh? Notice the hand-painted Earth Day Shirts!

Alpha Delta Omega Initiation

On Saturday, May 12, 1991, honor students in Human Services were inducted into Alpha Delta Omega, the Human Services honorary society. Students from the three area Chicago campuses were invited to apply for this recognition, and twenty students were initiated. Dr. David Rice spoke to the students and their guests on the topic of "Academic Excellence". Pat Makris, Director of the Cicero-Berwyn Head Start Program made the formal presentation of the certificates. A reception followed the formal program.

a wonderful experience
as been!

Michelle Feingold

"... and now life really begins!"

LYLA LEVY.... "and it only took 27 years..."
